

The summer holidays have arrived, and this year you are visiting your cousins who live on a large sheep station in outback Australia, two hours from the nearest town.

One afternoon, while out horse riding, you find a female kangaroo that has just been killed on the road by a passing truck.

She has a live joey in her pouch.

The joey is just 12 cm long and weighs 60 grams.

Will you be able to save its life?

